

Week 2

What do you think are three things we all have in common? (Have students create unique lists)

Who is one friend that makes your life better? What is it about them that makes your life better?

What characteristics do you think make a good friend?

What's one way you can know you're building the right kinds of friendships in your life right now?

In what ways do you see God as a friend?

What might be different about your friendships if you invited God into them? How can God help you be a better friend to others?

What's one step you can take this week to build the right kinds of friendships in your life?

TRY THIS

Challenge your students to do an individual friendship inventory. (They shouldn't share this with the rest of the group.) Have your students create a note on their phone or write down on paper three categories: "closest friend," "close friend," and "other friends." For as many years as they can reflect, have them list the year and how their friends fell across these categories. Challenge them to compare the shifts in their friendships year to year to see any patterns, defining moments, friendships to rekindle, or friendships that may need to shift in the next season.
